

Drawing Challenge Day 4 - The Squiggle Game

Today's challenge is a game that lets your imagination take control. You can play it on your own, with another person or with a group of people. The rules are simple:

1. Draw a squiggle on a piece of paper. Don't think about it, just put your pen onto the paper and move it!
2. Now for the interesting part... Look at the line. What do you see? You can turn the paper around and look at it a different way. The challenge is to use this line as a starting point of a drawing.

(If you are playing with more than one person, try making the same line for everyone. Draw your picture without anyone seeing then compare them and try to guess who drew each picture.)

Here are some pictures of what I came up with...
